VOL. 4 NO. 27 JULY 4, 1963 CARMEL VALLEY, CALIFORNIA

MISS PATTY OENNING of Carmel Valley is competing in the swim meet to be held at the Pacific Grove municipal swimming pool today, July 4, from 10:00 a. m. under the auspices of the 20-30 Club of Monterey. Last year Patty--then an 8th grader at Sunset School--won the Tri-County diving championship of the 13 to 17-year age group.

Baptist Church Application On County Zoning Agenda Tuesday

An application by Dr. Sal Di Mercurio, Jr., Monterey Orthodontist, for a use permit for a church will be heard by the County Board of Zoning Adjustment at 11:20 a. m. next Tuesday. The property concerned comprises six acres at the southeast corner of Schulte and Carmel Valley Roads. The new vegetable stand of Victoriano Lopez occupies the corner at present, but has been constructed so that it may easily be moved should the church be constructed thereon.

The corner now belongs to G. A. Bauman, but will be purchased by the congregation of the Evangelical Baptist Church of Monterey if the use permit is granted. The name of the new church would be "The First Baptist Church of Carmel Valley," Dr. Di Mercurio explained. The application points out that the Bauman property adjoins a parcel on which the Lutheran Church has already been granted a use permit to build. Other developments in the immediate neighborhood are Carmel Valley Manor retirement community and the Carmelo Elementary School. The pastor of the congregation is Dr. Loren Eastman.

Dr. Di Mercurio is secretary of the board of directors of the church, and his father, also an oldtime Peninsula resident, is the third member of the board.

Other Valley applications to be heard Tuesday include:

10:55 - Malcolm Millard seeks a variance in side yard setback requirements in order to construct a workshop adjoining the carport of his home on Boronda Rd.

Carmel applications (outside the city limits) to the zoning board are:

10:50 - Realtor Daniel Morgan seeks a reduction in building site and lot width requirements. He has acquired a 10-foot strip adjoining a 40-foot lot and seeks a permit to build on a site which would be 50 feet in width, a total of 5000 square feet. The parcel is lot 12, block 7, on Isabella off San Antonio.

SEEK COUNTY AID FOR ROAD PLAN FEE

County help is being sought to pay the cost of an independent planning consultant for studies of the Carmel Valley Road from Highway One to the Village. John Sigourney, president of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association, announced at a Directors meeting last week that he had sent a letter to Supervisor Tom Hudson, requesting that County funds be used to defray a part of the cost.

James Campbell, an engineering and architectural firm, has been retained by the CVPOA to prepare studies of the road in two phases. The first phase, from Highway One to Farm Center, is expected to cost $1250, and the second part, from Farm Center to the Village, will be an additional $750.

The studies are to be completed in time for consideration by the Association before presentation to the County Planning Commission on August 13. Sigourney has stated that the plans would be considered in a general meeting.

CVPOA Directors will soon begin a fund raising campaign to secure the necessary money to pay the consultant's fee. County participation is not expected to be more than half, and may be less, it was indicated. The remainder of the cost must be raised by the Property Owners Association.

The Mid-Valley Property Owners Association will also participate in the fund raising campaign. All residents of Carmel Valley will be solicited, it was indicated.

Hudson Speaks On Delinquency

A challenge to the community to do something about juvenile delinquency was thrown by Supervisor Tom Hudson, speaking to Kiwanis Club members, Tuesday. He suggested establishment of a Youth Guidance Council to counsel wayward youths -- and their parents.

"We all know that lots of trouble is caused by youngsters with too little to do and too much time to do it in," Hudson said. He described the operation of a youth guidance council that, in the past, had been effective in Monterey. Hudson was a member of that council. He cited also the experience of San

CVPOA to Consider Advisory Group Tenure

Should members of Carmel Valley's two Advisory Committees to the Planning Commission have limits placed on their tenure of office? John Sigourney, president of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association, raised this question at the monthly board meeting of the association last week.

Sigourney emphasized that he was not criticizing the advisory committees or their actions, but only the lack of definite tenure limitations.

"Three years is enough," he told members of the property owners board. After serving three years, a member of an advisory board should be required to wait three more years before reappointment, he opined. Sigourney also stated that he felt chairmanships of the advisory committees should be rotated.

Col. M.A. Quinto was appointed to look into the matter, confer with Supervisor Tom Hudson and other persons involved, and report back to the next CVPOA board meeting with recommendations.

The County Planning Commission's 15 advisory boards represent various areas of the county. One of these represents the Upper Valley and one Lower Carmel Valley. Staggered 3-year terms of office cause 2 or 3 vacancies on each 7-member committee per year. Each committee submits nominations to the planning commission to fill its own vacancies.

NOT OFFICIAL

Advisory committees have no official status, but presumably their members are more familiar with their own neighborhoods than the planners can be with all parts of the county. In practice, the recommendations of the advisory committees are followed by the planning commission in a majority of cases.

Bob Slimmon of the county planning staff recalls that David Hoisington, present chairman of the Upper Valley Advisory Committee, was first appointed to it at that time, Slimmon said.

"As far as I can recall, Williams has been chairman of it most of the time," Slimmon stated. "I remember Will Hatton was also chairman a couple of times -- Williams' terms have not been entirely consecutive."

RECORDS

Slimmon could not recall how long Hoisington had been chairman of the Upper Valley committee, explained that county

YOUTH EMPLOYMENT SERVICE HITS NEW HIGH

During the month of June, 19 Carmel Valley students were placed in 23 job openings in Carmel Valley, reports Phyllis Howard of the Youth Employment Service. Only 9 boys and 4 girls remain to be "placed". During June of 1962, only 4 students found jobs through the service, and only 5 job openings were offered, she reports. In June, '61, there were only 2 openings and 1 student placed.

More than 1000 students registered with the Service this year from all parts of the Peninsula; previous high was 850. As of June 11, 729 of these still sought jobs, but during the remainder of June, Youth Employment Service found openings for 283, leaving 534 young job-seekers registered from various parts of the Peninsula.

Miss Howard says that the Service has paid particular attention to the problems of drop-out and terminal high school graduates. There were 92 of these registered when school ended; the Service has found jobs for 45 so far.

Noting that the percentage of increase in successful job placements in the Valley exceeds by far that of the Peninsula in general, Miss Howard said she attributed this to publicity from two sources: Peggy Bashline of the Youth Board--and the Outlook. "It's amazing how many people read that little paper," she said. "I went to a meeting the other night and at least a dozen people who do not even live in the Valley told me they had seen the articles about us in your paper."

Larry Horan New Mid-Valley President

Attorney Larry Horan of Rancho Canada was recently elected new president of the Mid-Carmel Valley Property Owners Association. Secretary-treasurer is Mrs. James Miller. The Millers are now residents of Pacific Grove but are in the process of building their home on Carmel Valley Rd. just east of the old nursery at the corner of Cypress Lane. Tom Steiny, Marie Frumkin, and Roy Meadows, Jr., are new board members. Carry-over board members are Del Neel and John Anderson.

Of his coming term of office, Horan said, "This is a big year for the Valley, first of all because of decisions that must be made about Carmel Valley Road, but also because growth problems of all types will be arising." He expressed the hope that property owners of the area will join with the association in gathering information about the inevitable problems so that these may be approached with intelligence and long-range rather than stop-gap solutions evolved.

The territory covered by the Mid-Valley association reaches approximately from Descanso Oaks to Farm Center.

HERE IS ONE of literally thousands of photos which CV's Al Parker took of the five youngsters from three Valley families who posed for his illustrations for the just-published book, "Jane's Blanket." Because of the impossibility of immobilizing little girls aged 2 to 7, he worked from the photos for his drawings.

AL PARKER AUTOGRAPH PARTY SATURDAY

On Saturday afternoon, July 6, Carmel Valley's Al Parker will be autographing copies of the just-published book, "Jane's Blanket" at the Thunderbird Shop from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m. Parker illustrated the book, authored by Arthur Miller, as part of the "Modern Masters" series of books for children, a collaboration between nationally-known authors and artists published by Crowell and Collier.

So many honors have been heaped upon Al Parker that his Carmel Valley neighbors consider it only fitting that he contribute to a series which includes authors such as Louis Untermeyer, Phyllis McGinley, Shirley Jackson, and Isaac Asimov--and illustrators such as Maurice Sendak and Robert Jones.

"Jane's Blanket" is the story of a security blanket, which--as many mothers know--is something young children often carry about and cling to in moments of stress. The story begins when Jane is a baby and continues until she is 7 years old, and the blanket--by then reduced to tatters--is carried away by a mother bird to line her babies' nest.

As he often does, Al Parker used Valley folk to model for the illustrations. Molly Gregory, youngest of the 7 daughters of Lcdr. and Mrs. George Gregory (who also have one son!) posed for Jane as a baby. Kimberly and Leslie, also of the Gregory family, posed as Jane at 6 and 7 years of age. In-between ages were posed by Stacie Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Weber, and Jennie Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor. "Didi" Gregory also appears in the book, naturally, as Jane's mother.

There are now about a half-dozen books in the Modern Masters series, with another half-dozen or so envisioned. The hard-cover volumes sell for $1.95 each.

The final week of school was just one outstanding musical production after another under the direction of Mr. Gene Perrine, with sets and props done by the art department under the supervision of Mr. Robert Skiles. Following H. M. S. Pinafore, Mr. George Selvig's fourth graders presented "The Boy Mozart." A cast party with cookies and punch for the audience followed in the multi-purpose room. Cast members included: Gregory Granoff as Mozart; Thomas Boyd, Father; Marnie Mark, Nan; Christine Brill, the Queen; Karen Stuart First Playmate; Madeline Dudley, second Playmate; Winfield Sinclair, Third Playmate; Ann Naylor and Sharon Groves, Ladies in Waiting; Paul Bresk, the Footman, Elaine Bennett, Mother; Jane Crush, Sarah Johnson, Laurie Doud and Elaine Bennett as dancers; Elaine Bennett as the Flutist; Richard Hall, Garry Harris, Peter Mausey, John Gardiner, Bruce Borregaard as the Royal Brass Ensemble; Winfield Sinclair, Laurie Doud and Sarah Johnson as the trio.

Wardrobe Mistress was Marsha Wilsey. Daniel Campbell handled the lights and in charge of the curtain were Fred Nason and John Gardiner.

Following "The Boy Mozart" was a musical play by Laporte and Kaufman entitled, "Which Witch is Which?" Members of Mr. John McCormack's fifth grade who participated were Chris Robinson as Billy; Lindy Doud as Susanna; Dwight Thurston, Father; Cindy Young, Mother; Jan Hagen, Old Anna Newstart; Glen Risdon, George Newstart; Tom Augustitus, Captain Backstir; Susan Klas, Old Dame Wise; James Todd, the Town Crier; Dave Alley, Preacher Manner; Monique Dudley, the Good Witch; Leslie Patton, the Bad Witch; Jackie Jones, Dorothy Collins, Sayward White, Melanie Klein and Gen Dutton as Sticks.

Members of the Orchestra were Mindy Rayne, Cindy Young, Leslie Eckert, Monique Dudley, and Tom Augustitus. The lights were handled by Stephen Stone, and props by Tom Bunner. Brian Riddell was stage manager.

Bjorn Robert Wahman and Glenda De Witt were married last week at the Church of the Wayfarer with only members of the family in attendance. Bjorn, son of Mrs. Inga-Britt Ringrose of Laurel Drive, was discharged from six years service with the Navy on Monday, and the ceremony performed by Rev. Fillmore Gray took place on Tuesday.

Following a honeymoon at Lake Tahoe, the newlyweds are staying with Mrs. Ringrose and plan to make their home in the Valley. Glenda is formerly from Stockton and met Bjorn while he was in service.

More excitement at the Ringrose residence--the glamorous Inga-Britt is once again a grandmother! Master Richard Byron Gorke, Jr., was born July 1 to Inga-Lill and Richard Gorke, who with their 20-month-old daughter recently moved to a Valley home on Garzas Road from Walnut Creek. At this writing, young Richard was so new that weights and important details other than "mother and son doing nicely" were not available. Congratulations!

When Mike Jones, 10 1/2-year-old son of Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Huby Jones of Paso Hondo, returns to school in the fall, he'll be able to tell all his classmates of the many friends he made while a patient at Community Hospital. Mike came through surgery with colors flying and was able to return home sooner than expected.

Also home and on the recuperating list is Mickey Cummings, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Cummings of Lower Circle. Mickey has been a pneumonia patient at the Community Hospital where he was taken last week by the CV Volunteer Ambulance Crew.

.....

Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. Ray Slingerland with their daughter Vicki and son Jeff have returned from a vacation trip in time for Ray's Monday morning classes at the Postgraduate School. Going east via the south, they visited Dee's home in Florida, on thru Georgia and Norfolk, Virginia, where they have many fridnes, and finally to see Ray's parents in Pennsylvania. They returned to the Valley by a northern route and down the west coast where among other points of interest they visited the Pendleton Woollen Mills in Oregon.

The night shift of the Monterey Hospital where her mother was previously a staff member were among the first to give a warm welcome to Diane Carol McKenzie who checked in at 4:38 a. m. June 17 weighing 5# 15 oz. Diane and her big brother, David, are children of Mr. and Mrs. Richard McKenzie of Esquiline and Del Rio Road. The baby's maternal grandmother, Mrs. John Sheffield Brown of San Pedro, is in the Valley getting acquainted with the new arrival, who is also the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don McKenzie, Sr.

.....

Mrs. Salih Mehdy and children, Mona and Jameel, recently enjoyed a complete change of scene from the flowers at the Oleander Garden Shop to the snowline at Yosemite.

Carmelo 4—H Club

BY JOHN JACOBY

NEW MEMBERS WELCOME

First of all, the Carmelo 4-H Club announces that enrollment for the 4-H Club is now open. Anyone interested should call Bill Muscutt at 659-2464.

On June 23 and 24, the annual 4-H Summer Camp was held at Asilomar. Games at the beach, movies, and a wonderful Barbecue added greatly to the grand time that we had.

NEW OFFICERS

Election of officers for the 1963-64 year was held at our last meeting. Those elected are: President, Donna Carter; Vice President, Hazel Jacoby; Treasurer, Bob Whiteman; Recording Secretary, Janet Powers; Corresponding Secretary, Martha Crow; Reporter, Dawn Powers; File Keeper, Shannon Gregory; Sergeant at Arms, Ford Wolter; Song Leader, Nancy Meadows.

EXHIBIT DAY

Sunday, June 30, the annual Carmelo 4-H Exhibit Day was held at the Trail and Saddle C lub grounds. It was, as usual, a success, and a good time was had by all who attended. Awards were presented as follows:

CLOTHING: Wendy Ambrosio, one first, three thirds; Sally McKenzie, one first, one third; Shannon Gregory, one second, one third; Tania Granoff, two firsts; Candy Gregory, one second; Dawn Powers, one third; Marjorie Ingram, one second; Nancy Meadows, two seconds; Marcia Dahle, one first, one second; Kathy Harbert, one second, one third; Patti Brinsmead, one third; Christine Dawson, one first, one second; Martha Crow, three firsts; Janet Powers, three firsts, one second; Hazel Jacoby, six firsts, two seconds; Donna Carter, two firsts, one second.

FOOD PREPARATION: Kathy Harbert, one second; Christine Dawson, one first; Janet Powers, three firsts; Nancy Otter, two firsts; Tania Granoff, one first; Donna Carter, two firsts, two seconds; Dawn Powers, two firsts; Marjorie Ingram, one first; Martha Crow, one first, one second; Tom Crow, one second, one third; Hazel Jacoby, one first.

FOOD PRESERVATION: Martha Crow, four firsts; Dawn Powers, two firsts; Donna Carter, four firsts; Janet Powers, two firsts, Hazel Jacoby, two firsts, one second.

HOME FURNISHINGS: Janet Powers, two firsts, three seconds; Donna Carter, six firsts, one second; Martha Crow, four firsts, two seconds; Dawn Powers, two firsts, one second; Candy Gregory, one first; Hazel Jacoby, three firsts, one second.

GARDEN CROPS: John Vanetti, three firsts, one second; Daryl Dawson, one first; Clayton Carter, two firsts, one second.

FORESTRY: Ned Orrett, one first.

WOODWORKING: Janet Powers, one second; Dawn Powers, one first.

ELECTRICITY: Chris Robinson, one first, two seconds; Ned Orrett, two firsts, one second; John Jacoby, one first, two seconds.

HOME BEAUTIFICATION: Hazel Jacoby, one first, one second.

TROPHIES

Trophies for high point winners in Home Economics and in Agriculture were awarded to Donna Carter and John Vanetti.

A few paragraphs ago I mentioned the election of officers; the reader will notice a new name as club reporter. Since this is my last article, I would like to take this opportunity to thank Mrs. Branch and her staff for their generosity, help, cooperation, and patience during the past year. Good luck, Dawn!

Chamber of Commerce Meets Next Wednesday

The possibility of a "cleanup" campaign in the commercial zone of Carmel Valley Village and the question of police protection in the Valley will be discussed at the regular monthly board of directors' meeting of the CV Chamber of Commerce, to be held next Wednesday, July 10, at Rancho Del Monte Country Club. Cocktails will be served from 6:30 p.m.; dinner is scheduled for 8:00.

"We would like to have as many people there as possible," said executive secretary Lory Swiess, referring to the two controversial questions on the agenda. These will be discussed at an executive committee meeting prior to the cocktail-and-dinner meeting. Results of the executive meeting will be presented and open discussion welcomed later in the evening. Board of directors' meetings are always open to all members of the chamber.

Point Lobos Picnic For Garden Group

With "the days of vines and roses" (page Dorothy Durham) upon us, members of the Carmel Valley Garden Association will hold their first summer field trip Sunday, July 7. They are requested to meet at 10:00 a.m. at the entrance to Point Lobos, where Doyt Early has contacted a ranger who will conduct a guided tour of the park.

Individual picnic lunches may be left with volunteer guard of food and table-space Pete Naugle, whose fee will be one drumstick, a glass of limonade, or what-have-you!

HOW TO MAKE A RUM SWIZZLE

Add 6 dashes bitters to 1 jigger of rum. Put in 1 teaspoon sugar and the juice of 1 fresh lime. Shake or stir until fine froth appears, strain into cocktail glass.

Or ask for it at Reubens. Be sure and bring this recipe with you, though--our barman doesn't mix many rum swizzles.

REVIEW

The Streets Of New York

BY TONY BRANCH

The audience at any performance by the Troupers of the Gold Coast at California's First Theatre is almost certainly treated to a rare evening's entertainment out of a bygone era. The current production of "The Streets of New York" is no exception. This entertaining melodrama included enough good acting and stage effects to elicit enthusiastic audience response.

Don Hindorff's spirited portrayal of the scheming banker villain, Gideon Bloodgood, was a strong point of the play. Don Landers, as the banker's clerk and feuding partner in skulduggery, was skillful in voice and movements. The young and beautiful heroine, whose fall from high society to utter poverty was due to the villain's evildoing, was played by a very appealing Anita Gertner. CV's Maria Anderson did an equally fine job with facial expressions amply befitting the base daughter of the villain.

The fine young hero was played by Lee Gipson, whose excellent vocal performance of the lines made up for too much nervousness in gestures and movements. In addition to directing the show, Al Olinger managed to add comic relief with the humorous role of Bloodgood's butler.

This representative 19th century drama contained none of the moral uncertainties of contemporary dramas. This proves a great asset in providing an evening's entertainment to an audience that participates in the designation of Good and Evil through hisses and cheers!

The Olio carried on with the theme of old New York, and in it the cast ably proved that their talents are far more diverse than just acting a role in a play. A highlight was the amusing musical dialogue between the two old Irish housewives, Mrs. Gallagher and Mrs. Shean, presented by Florence Venn and Madeleine Hicks. Don Hindorff once again displayed his considerable talent as a very entertaining Master of Ceremonies.

"The Streets of New York" will continue to play on Friday and Saturday evenings through the summer, in conjunction with Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday showings of "The Drunkard". The First Theatre combines the rich historical tradition of Monterey with a fun-filled evening's entertainment for the visitor and localite alike.

the Outlook on Carmel

MARJORY LLOYD - Contributing Editor

PROGRESS ON PATH

Thomson J. Hudson, Monterey County supervisor from this area, took a brisk step toward obtaining pedestrian paths in the Carmel Valley Road, Highway One interchange vicinity on Monday.

The occasion was a meeting of property owners and other persons interested in county landscaping of the interchange. Hudson asked Bruce McClain, Monterey County engineer, to prepare a report on county rights-of-way which might be used for pedestrian pathways leading from Hatton Fields Mesa, Mission Fields and South Carmel Hills to the existing county pathway bordering the Valley road.

He also asked McClain to report information on State rights-of-way that may be available for pathways in the same area.

Hudson said that as soon as he receives McClain's report he will "See about getting something done."

He added that this "something" will include consultations with Mike Foley, district engineer for the State Division of Highways.

Two weeks ago, Hudson indicated to the Outlook that he disapproves of 100 students being bussed to the junior high at an annual cost of $3,000 because no paths, at present, lead from the three subdivisions mentioned above to the Valley road.

¿¿ SHIRT OFF OUR BACKS ??

Only a letter from Gunnar Norberg protested second reading and enactment last Friday of an ordinance which will raise Carmel's tax rate about 12 cents... also raise the pay of the city's 47 employees.

The new six-step salary scale went into effect on Monday.

Norberg is a former councilman who unsuccessfully sought re-election last year.

This coming year Carmelites will pay taxes of approximately 96 cents per $100 property valuation. Apparently property owners didn't care enough about the increase to go to city hall and holler. Carmel's tax rate is still below that of other Peninsula cities.

The only objection, other than Norberg's, was a story in the June 27 edition of the Carmel Pine Cone which attacked the city council's proposed passage of the salary scale ordinance as an act that would take "the shirt off our backs!"

However, Carmel basked in sunshine during the second reading of that ordinance, and presumably citizens were shirtless already on the beach. Anyway, no one turned up at city hall.

Carmel Fireworks

Valley residents, visitors from all over California and Peninsula areas planned to join hundreds of Carmelites to picnic and set off Fourth of July fireworks on the beach.

Each year the beach is thronged by family groups and other picnickers who gather for Carmel's unofficial Independence Day celebration. Fireworks, only allowed to be set off on the beach, send clouds of smoke rolling over Scenic Drive. Fires glow all over the sand and silhouette the gleeful dance of children.

City Council "Scandalous" --who says?

BY MARJORY LLOYD

Last week's issue of the Carmel Pine Cone stated that Carmel's city council "is going to be distinguished for its contempt of the electorate, the taxpayer, and good manners..... having appointed a City Clerk without giving interested citizens a referendum..."

This ridiculous statement, presumably a swan song, needs to be refuted.

During the past year, the council has exhibited good manners by exemplary silence in the face of many such attacks.

Its action in appointing a city clerk has proved its consideration for the electorate and the taxpayer, beyond doubt.

It is necessary to review the past 12 months to show this.

A year ago this week, Carmel's city clerk, Lawrence D. Rose, became the editor of Carmel's weekly newspaper. Both jobs are exacting. Combining the two was a superman's task.

It was understood that when a satisfactory replacement for the city clerk was discovered and trained, Mr. Rose would resign and the council would appoint his replacement. There was no public mention of a referendum to elect his successor. Mr. Rose continued to be paid $600 a month by the city.

No one seemed to be unhappy.

RESIGNED

This spring, Rose found his two jobs incompatible and resigned his elective city clerk position. The city council then had two choices under the California government code: to appoint a new city clerk or have the citizens select one in a special election. By filling the vacancy with an appointee, the council saved taxpayers the cost of a referendum ($800-$1000).

Some people immediately became unhappy. One was a councilman, Francis Whitaker, about to resign and move out of the state. Another was the editor of the weekly newspaper, Rose. Besides these, a small group of citizens protested any appointment: demanded a referendum.

The council, except for Whitaker, stood firm and exercised its legal right to choose a successor to the city clerk.

Everyone but the small minority still seemed happy. By this time, it is apparent that the council acted wisely and prevented undue disorganization of the city's administration.

The present city clerk, Arthur Plaxton, served as assistant during Rose's 7-year term of office and was chosen by Rose. Also, the present assistant to the clerk, Hugh Bayless, was appointed by the council during Mr. Rose's regime as city clerk-editor at a salary equal and in addition to Rose's. Bayless's qualifications for the job were excellent. Lastly, another member of the present clerk's staff, Lucille Ray, was one of Rose's most valued employees until she resigned and went to Hawaii for a time.

ALL O. K.

Therefore, there should be no accusation of inexperience or inefficiency leveled at the present city clerk or his staff by Rose, or anyone else.

And the atmosphere at city hall is serene.

This leads to the assumption that the city council solved a difficult situation when they chose to appoint Arthur Plaxton to fill out Rose's term of office (one year) rather than have a costly referendum.

Rose is not editing the weekly newspaper now, according to his active business partner, George Walker. Former councilman Whitaker is in Colorado. The small group of protestants is silent and can have an election next spring.

All the unhappiness appears to have evaporated like the Carmel fog. A benign sun shines, figuratively at least, on city hall, the council, and the electorate.

Banned at Youth Group, Banned at Totsie's Too !

Peggy Bashline announced early this week that any young people who are barred from the Youth Group for misbehavior of any sort will be barred from Totsie's at the same time.

Referring to Youth Group director Reg Bennett, Mrs. Bashline said, "Reg will go way out on a limb for the kids. He'll make all sorts of allowances and make certain that something is really wrong before he turns them away. So if he makes decisions like that, I know they are right, and I'll stick right with him, too."

Unlike teenagers in Carmel, Valley young people do not have a building of their own. The Community Center building is used for many groups and available to them only on Saturdays. Most of the time Totsie's, which Mrs. Bashline operates with her husband, is the unofficial gathering place for the youth of Carmel Valley Village.

BETTY OENNING CONVALESCING

Dr. and Mrs. Observe Fortieth Wedding Anniversary

CELEBRATING FORTY YEARS of marriage on June 18 were Dr. James J. Short (center) and Mrs. Short (at his right) of Carmel Valley. They journeyed for the occasion to Glendale, California, where a reception for 150 people was given for them by their daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Elvin B. Oblander (couple at left) and their son Carlyle B. Short, a mathematician with Aerospace Corporation of Glendale.

Another son, James G. Short, M.D., is studying for his Ph.D. in biochemistry at the University of Utah, and another daughter, Mrs. Ralph Eugene Neall, does missionary work with her husband. The Nealls are currently in Europe, en route to Cambodia.

Dr. Short, formerly an associate professor of clinical medicine at Columbia University, is featured on a radio broadcast, "Your Health," over station KIDD at 10:15 a.m. daily.

Fire, Aid Calls

Carmel Valley Volunteer Firemen extinguished a fire caused by insulation in a fire place flue at the Clive Rayne residence on Ring Lane and Los Ranchitos Rd. June 17 at 11:30 p.m. The damage was minor.

A call at 11:05 a.m. June 25 took firemen to the Horizon Way home of the Tor Meelands where a fire in the butane hot water heater resulted in minor damage.

Burning brush was controlled within a half acre on June 28 when the department answered a 5:05 p.m. alarm at the residence of Major Roy Hill on Valle Vista Drive.

Enough firemen were at the station Sunday at 11:47 a.m. to handle the fire started by a trash pile at the Koue residence on De Los Ositos.

Carlos where, of 350 cases referred to the council, only 23 came to the attention of police a second time.

Hudson also discussed the Carmel Valley Road, saying that Carmel Valley leads the county in offering its own solutions to problems. The Supervisor called James Campbell, consultant selected by the CV Property Owners Association, "an excellent planner" and said that he thought he could get the County to match funds of the Property Owners to pay Campbell's fee.

Other subjects mentioned by Hudson, either in response to questions or in his talk, were police protection in Carmel Valley, riding trails, and the CV air strip. Hudson stated that the air strip is important to CV and that perhaps steps should be taken to ensure that it will remain available as an airport. Among other solutions, annexation by the Monterey Airport District might ensure retention, he said. He emphasized that this was not the only solution, however.

Kiwanis president Lou Gardner invited Hudson to confer with the Kiwanis Club at an executive meeting July 2 to present further details of Hudson's proposal for a Youth Guidance Council.

CVPOA WILL CONSIDER ADVISORY TENURE

records before 1954 "were not the best" and that unearthing the exact data on who had served during any particular year would involve much clerical time delving through minutes of numerous meetings.

Asked to comment on Sigourney's statements at the CVPOA meeting, Leonard Williams said, "If this is the feeling of the people in general and the planning commission, then it's all right with me. Sometimes it seems better to have people on these committees who have some link with the past, but I don't know that this is absolutely necessary. I have no strong feelings about it and wouldn't put up any argument if a change were made."

Since David Hoisington is absent from the Valley with his family each summer, General Robert Bare, vice-chairman of the Upper Valley committee, assumes the chairmanship. Of Sigourney's comments, General Bare remarked, "I think it is the right -- even the duty -- of the property owners to consider matters such as this and to make recommendations to the planning commission as it sees fit."

CALDWELL

J. D. Caldwell, who has served as secretary to the Upper Valley committee since his appointment in 1957, said he could see "no advantage to the public in changing members around unless someone has been defective in his job or somebody better can be found."

Caldwell said that he has several times looked for someone to replace him, but "It's not easy to find people actually willing to do the work." He added that committee members should be "people who know the history of local land development and will take the trouble to learn the zoning ordinances."

While on the subject, Caldwell decided to tackle two other current Valley topics which concern his committee:

(1) A "cleanup" in the commercial area of CV Village. Mr. Caldwell says that his committee wrote the county planners in May requesting that the zoning investigator be asked to check on the situation--but has received no reply as yet. Caldwell noted that most of the garages in the Village do not have permits to make repairs, and that careful restrictions were placed on use permits of those garages which do have permits. "All they have to do is enforce those conditions," he said. "It's all in the use permits, but we need more publicity and more help from the public.

NAMES

(2) Street Names. Referring to a recent letter to the Outlook, from Dr. Anita Krause, Mr. Caldwell agreed heartily that the correct Spanish usages should be preserved whenever possible and that corrections should be made where errors exist. "I am told that several of the Spanish street names in Robles del Rio are incorrect," he observed. "It would be good to change those, too."

He emphasized that his committee has nothing to do with choosing street names; these are recorded in Salinas according to the choices and spellings of the original land subdividers.

Little League

BY DORIS MARK

Tuesday evening the Giants defeated the League-leading Red Sox, 14-13. The Giants took a 9-2 lead early in the game, but by the 6th inning the Red Sox were ahead 13-9. The Giants rallied again in the bottom of the 6th and tallied 5 runs to win the ball game.

Hitting doubles for the Giants were Bill Klech, Mike Simons, Bill Armstrong, Joe Danielson, Andy Hall, and John O'Neal. Malcolm and Ricky Hall chalked up doubles for the losers.

Thursday evening the Volunteers edged out the Pistons 5-3 with very little action by either team.

Saturday the Pistons won their ball game, 4-3. This game was a thriller with the Giants leading 3-1 until the bottom of the 6th, when the Pistons pulled ahead. Doubling for the Pistons were Rod DeLeon and Dale Butler; Brian Bergholtz doubled for the Giants.

In the second game the Red Sox whipped the Volunteers, 10-3. Doubling for the Volunteers was Gary Kelley; Don Parks hit a double for the Red Sox.

BETTY ANTONCICH SELLS THREE STORIES WORKS ON NOVEL

Batting out three columns a week for three years for the Herald has taught her the discipline necessary to anyone who wishes to become a professional writer, Betty Antoncich feels, and enrolling in Maxine Shore's writing class at the Carmel Adult School seems to have provided that extra jot of incentive.

"Betty A.", as she is known to local fans, has been writing four hours a day, setting as her goal the completion of a short story or a chapter each week. Recently she has sold three stories, though she insists these are "not important." One is called, "I couldn't wear my wedding dress" and deals with a compulsive eater.

Her week's vacation from writing her column (during which Outlook feature-writer Jeannine Bottaro will pinch-hit) will be spent finishing her first novel. Its a teen-age mystery, laid in a home which many Valleyites will recognize as that of the Frank O'Neals. The heroine's name, coincidentally, is Molly O'Neal--but she's 15 years old rather than 9, like her local namesake. Betty says many Valley names are scattered through the book.

Ad Winner Repeats

Last week it was persistence. This week it's more of the same.

Mrs. Susan Stone, winner of the Outlook ad contest last week, repeated her win with revised copy for the advertisement of The Personal Touch in the June 20 Outlook.

Her winning entry, "inspired" by the notice that she had won the prize for the June 13 issue, reached the Outlook just before the deadline. Mrs. Stone had already sent in two other entries, neither of which was up to the caliber of her last--and winning --entry.

The contest still has a few days to run. Entries may be sent in for the June 27 issue until 7 July. However, contestants are warned that the competition is tough. Entries have been getting consistently better as the contest has continued.

The final weekly winner and the winner of the prize for the best entry of the month will be announced in the next issue of the Outlook.

Notes from Hacienda Carmel

BY MARJORIE WEBER

Living together at the Hacienda are two sisters, Leslie and Donna Davis, whose useful and busy careers have been very different. Nevertheless, they share a common outlook on life, and have a charming relationship, with mutual respect and understanding for each other's special fields.

Both sisters feel that their mother had a great influence on their lives. Leslie, whose career was devoted to kindergarten teaching, traces her choice of profession to the fact that her mother, together with Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, established free kindergartens in Berkeley. Throughout her 36 years of kindergarten teaching, 6 in private Berkeley kindergartens, 22 in San Francisco public schools, and 8 in Monterey, Leslie's second deep interest--the love of and concern for kind treatment of animals--found expression by having various kinds of pets in her classrooms for the children to learn to care for. This concern was expressed also in her membership in the San Francisco SPCA, and her present membership on the board of directors of the Monterey County SPCA. Even at the Hacienda she has found tasks of mercy, such as rescuing the kittens of an abandoned, half-wild mother who had sought shelter for her family under an outlying construction shed.

Donna Davis has had a long career as an art teacher and as a practicing artist. In her own work she has specialized in portraits and landscapes, in bookplates (of which she has made, to order, more than 60) and in linoleum block printing. She is a member of the Carmel Art Association and has had one-man shows under its auspices.

Her interest in art began very early, and her mother encouraged her creative efforts in every way. Her art education included study at the Mark Hopkins Institute of Art, at the old Mark Hopkins home, where the hotel is now located. Later, she studied at the College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland, and taught there after her graduation for 6 years. She was able to study intermittently under distinguished painters, both foreign and American, whom the University of California brought to Berkeley for its summer school programs. Donna Davis particularly cherishes her association with S. C. Yuan, a Carmel artist, who now has a studio on Cannery Row.

Donna's teaching of art covers, all told, some 49 years, including the volunteer teaching of some years at Town House, in Carmel. For 26 years she was head of the Art Department at San Mateo College. Her most recent volunteer class, studying landscape work, is with Hacienda residents. In general this class meets weekly, and over the months interest has been well sustained and growing. The new construction now in process will include hobby shops, which will be of considerable service to the activities of the art class, and should stimulate still greater interest in this form of creative self-expression.
